

Supporting details

Reading Comprehension Worksheet

Practice

A parent or tutor should read to the student and help the student to record their answers.

~~~~~

Supporting details are small pieces of information that make the story more interesting.

~~~~~

Listen to this story. Think about what small pieces of information make the story more interesting.

Millie Goes for a Ride

Millie got a pink scooter for her birthday. She rode it up the sidewalk in front of her house. It was hard to pedal, because the sidewalk was uphill all the way. At the top of the hill, Millie turned around and rode back down the sidewalk. Riding back down was easy. It was downhill all the way.

1. What is one detail from this story? Circle your answer.

Millie rode her scooter in the park.	It was hard to pedal the scooter uphill.	Millie's friend asked for a ride on the scooter.
--------------------------------------	--	--

Listen to this story. Think about what small pieces of information make the story more interesting.

Let's Learn About the Desert

The desert is hot and dry, but many things live there. There are mice, chipmunks, squirrels, and many other animals. There are also many kinds of plants that grow only in the desert. It doesn't rain very often in the desert. But when it does rain, many of these plants have colorful flowers.

2. What is one detail from this story? Circle your answer.

There are deserts in many parts of the world.	No animals live in the desert.	Many kinds of plants grow in the desert.
---	--------------------------------	--

Listen to this story. Think about what small pieces of information make the story more interesting.

Jobs on a Farm

There are many jobs to be done on a farm. There are vegetables to be picked and cows to be milked. There are chickens to be fed, and eggs to be gathered. Life on a farm is very different from life in a city.

3. What is one detail from this story? Circle your answer.

Feeding chickens is one job on a farm.	It is fun to live on a farm.	Farmers raise pigs and goats.
--	------------------------------	-------------------------------

~~~~~
4. What is another detail from the story, "Jobs on a Farm"?

---

Answer Key

1. It was hard to pedal the scooter uphill.
2. Many kinds of plants grow in the desert.
3. Feeding chickens is one job on a farm.
4. Accept any reasonable response.