Sight Words

sing upon green does or always off

Once upon a time, there was a green frog who lived in the forest. He was a normal frog with lots of bug and animal friends. Every day, he would play with them in the lake.

Sadly, the frog had one problem. He loved to sing! When he sang, though, all of his friends would run away. The fish would swim deeper. The birds would fly into trees. Even the flies would jump off the lily pads!

“Why does that always happen?” the frog asked himself.
“Why does everyone leave when I sing?”

He thought about it for a very long time.

“I think I have the answer,” the frog finally told himself. “They must be sad that they can't sing like me. It's either that or they don't like my voice... but that can't be it! I'll have to give them all singing lessons.”
